Presentation Summary:

Looking for advancement? Have you ever wondered why you didn't get a promotion or get included in that high visibility team at work? You're smart enough. You have your professional designation, years of experience on the job with good results but you just haven't been able to crack the next level of opportunity. That may be due to only having developed one half of your "Q" factors.

This discussion session identifies the two major "Q" factors that employers are looking for when considering promotions or major project teams. We'll discuss the two major elements of the Q factors and their sub-elements. We'll then concentrate on the EQ factors, what they mean to your advancement and have an open Q&A session to discuss ways and means to improving your chances of promotion.
